COFFEE

How much the word is abused! And how many indescribable mixtures it is forced to father! It cannot know all of them! You readers want a choice and a real Java and Mocha Coffee, or perhaps a Maracabo or Rio?

We give this department of our trade strict attention and can furnish the best in the market.

We offer some French Prunes that are very difficult to find. They run 30 to the pound.

A few cases of California Olive Oil, bought direct from the maker. For nearly a year we have sold both California Oil and California Olives.

An extra (Souchong) or English Breakfast Tea.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion.

"Aristocracy" will be the attraction this evening on the occasion of the benefit given to the attaches of the house by G. B. Bunnell. In a speech he made the first night of "Aristocracy" at Palmer's theater, Bronson Howard (after thanking the brilliant and enthusiastic audience for twenty-two years of kindness) said that the moral of the new play was: "Don't monkey with the buzz-saw." The buzz-saw that Author Howard alluded to is the aristocracy of Europe, whose scions, according to our dramatist, are very bad men indeed, and not to be thought of by title-loving girls and their aspiring mammae. There are persons that insist that the stage is not a school-room, and that its function is one of amusement rather than of education. Mr. Howard's play both amuses and teaches a lesson. The story is one of social ambition, fortified by money, a lover that in those days will move almost anything, but embittered by experiences that seem very probable in the light of latter-day international schemes of position and matrimony. Sale of seats now open. There will be a large audience present.

Rice's "Surprise Party" will play a return engagement at the Hyperion Saturday, when the great success, "1892," will be given at a matinee and evening performance. Miss Marie Broughton-Marlowe, the attractive young lady who appears as the royal herald in "1892," is a sister of Miss Julia Marlowe Taber. The resemblance is striking, though Miss Marlowe is somewhat taller than her sister, who has achieved such fame in Shakespearean roles. Sale of seats now open. Tony Pastor is coming.

Grand Opera House.

"Land of the Midnight Sun" will be the attraction the last three nights this week. The play is said to be one of the most fascinating and romantic produced in many years. It is a story of Iceland, introducing characters representing a race of stalwart people who seldom see upon the stage. Giants of physique and passion, rugged in love and barbaric in war. The story tells of two half brothers, "Jamon" and "Sunlock," who cross each other in love and finally meet for the first time in the sulphur mines at the prison of Krusavik, the Danish penal colony in Iceland. The younger man is punished by crucifixion, being nailed by the hands to a post, where he is rescued by his elder brother, "Jamon," and simultaneously the mine explodes. This scene is wonderful in its realism. The flames burst from every corner of the stockade and is said to be the greatest pyrotechnic effect ever placed upon the stage. The company is a large one, embracing many excellent players, among the rest being the author of the piece, Mr. Harbour, who assumes the role of the old sea dog, "Captain Jolly-weather." Among the other members of the company can be mentioned George H. Walters, Harry Webster, William W. Bittner, etc.

"Land of the Midnight Sun" matinee Saturday.

Robert Gaylor, who has always been considered one of the most prominent of eccentric Irish comedians, will appear the first three nights next week in an entirely new version of his successful farce comedy, "Sport McAllister."

Poll's Wonderland Theater.

It is difficult to imagine without having seen Little Gertrude Cochran that such an extraordinary memory can belong to any human being, much less a tot who is less than five years of age. The most complicated questions bearing on the Bible, history, statistics, geography, biography and mathematics she answers almost in the same breath that they are asked, and it matters not how difficult they may be, or how complicated, she answers them without the slightest possible hesitation. It is certainly an extraordinary exhibition of memory. The vaudeville features of the performance are especially good. Miss Gertrude Gilson, the handsome and dashing soubrette, sings with her old time raucousness, and she has a splendid collection of new vocal gems. Miss Harrington and Mr. Lawrence, Conway and Leland, the Misses Housend and Guyer, and the others in the bill, make lots of sport for all who go to the Wonderland.

Big Drop in Oil.

WEAK MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Need the most strengthening diet that can possibly be obtained for them.

The three greatest natural and nerve builders known are BEEF, MALT and CELERY.

The market is flooded with malt extract. Dehydrated persons need something more than a mere malt extract. They need

BEEF MALT.

Because it is not only a malt extract, but a strictly scientific combination of fresh beef, ripe celery and malt. It is the only preparation that contains all these important strengtheners.
